

Michael Sanger, MA

Professional History

Michael is an Industrial/Organizational Psychologist with experience in market research, human resources and consulting. He was educated in New York and The Netherlands, and has experience with competency modeling, psychometric analysis and assessment center development. Michael has refined his various skills by working in a range of settings including the corporate headquarters for a manufacturing company, a television research and development team and university classrooms. Through his accomplishments, he has become practiced in many of the key facets of I/O Psychology. His main focuses are in personality assessments, team analyses and competency analyses.

Credentials & Professional Associations

- MA in Industrial/Organizational Psychology
Hofstra University, New York (2006)
- Registered Psychologist, Division of Industrial & Organizational Psychology, The Hong Kong Psychological Society
- Member Society of Industrial Organizational Psychology, American Psychological Association

Professional Experience

- Psychometric and Service Quality Coordinator
Mobley Group Pacific (2009 onward)
- Associate Consultant
Mobley Group Pacific (2007-2008)
- Assistant Market Research Analyst
Norman Hecht Research Inc. (2005-2006)
- ISO Implementation Coordinator/HR Assistant (2003-2004)
Southern Container Corp. (1997-2001)

Others

- Visiting Instructor of English in Business
Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (2006-2007)

Level / Function Expertise

Business Leaders
Team functioning

Industry & Sector Knowledge

Chemicals
Financial Services
Manufacturing

Representative Clients

Corning
Mars
CP Kelco
Michelin
McDonald's